

10-MAR-2021_the light has a chemistry to it

(Jesus speaking: ) Beloved tender. In, through the night we walk. It's dark, but you hold to My hand more tightly than, and rest your head on My bosom. But you do walk on. Sometimes you do trip, but because you are close, I can help you up again, to stand upright. You don't even fall all the way, for I uphold you. You just need more light shining on the pathway so you will trip less.

I can see, because I made the pathway and because My eyes are like lights. But you need extra light, and I'm the creator of light, so I am the one you need to get it from. Here, let me place on your ankles some strap-on lights. These will light the footpath for you much better. You know what these represent? Reading written words and hearing from Me fresh. Both combined help to light the way.

It's like the light has a chemistry to it, and both need to be shining, their light mingled, and then it gets very bright. If only one is on it's a bit dim and you can't see the way very clearly. If the other one is on, only, then it's a bit obscured. Each are different light elements. But when both shine, then bing! something happens and it gets really bright, more than what their combined light would have created.

So it's good that you seek Me to speak to you in prophecy each and every day, then you'll trip and stumble less, and greater progress will be made. And it's good that you read at least something that I've said to you before, reviewing and making sure you have done what it said, or to pray at least for it to come to pass. —Like Daniel did when reading and studying over the prophecies from Jeremiah the prophet, he then prayed wholeheartedly for My will to come to pass. (Daniel 9:2-4)

So read something now, and then move on to hearing from your "lanterns", the holders of light for you, your guides that point things out, the angelic team offering their supernatural assistance.
