(Jesus speaking:) Launch out into the deep. We are men catching.

Come, come out, where the water isn't quite as smooth, nor as shallow, but where the good fish are, the good big and worthwhile ones. Come out with Me as the captain, in the moonlight, and let's make love in the boat, and the seeds of our loving will form a net that catches others. We bring them in to the boat and nourish them, succour them, until they too become givers.

Reach out My love, and take the line I am throwing you, the line to catch men for the kingdom of God. Be wise now in your conduct, for it is through the little things you do, not the big things, that causes you to "ride over men". And the little things that you do not do that causes you to fall and stumble.

Remember, it was in what they did not do unto the King, that they were thrust out; their great works "in His name" didn't earn them a prize when they missed the one main thing I asked of them—to love one another. They tried to love Me only, doing spiritual works, but missed the "unto the least of these is doing it unto Me."

Sure, everyone wants to be a spiritual flame and really "show the Lord's power" and be a rep of Me in glorious ways. But who wants to change diapers year after year? Who wants to feed a dog for a neighbour who can't? Who wants to love an unlovely person, for Me?

Do it and you get blessed.
