More from the “Seeds of David”: The spirit of calmness

When you let the world—that is anything at all that is part of Earth structure, or part of the Earth experience—ruffle your feathers and get you feeling stressed, this means it has more power over you than you are letting God’s Spirit have power over you. You are not fully allowing God to both empower you as well as hold the control and authority and power over you.

You’ve seen that now with the two last times you lost your cool, and saw what happened. Very sudden attacks of the enemy in fiery ways was let in. It made a breach. This was as a correcting method. You needed to see that there is a reaction, something really does go on when you give place to the spirit of the enemy.

It’s the lies that you are listening to really, if you get really stressed out suddenly. It wasn’t the cool and calm voice from your spirit helps guiding you how to do things and cheering you on, or prompting you to get others to help.

So remember that, okay? “Neither give place to the devil” or any of his cahoots. Fight with us. Don’t forget the extreme assistance that we are commissioned to provide for you.

(Note: One time in October 2020, as soon as I voiced my stress and distress with intense negativity, somewhere else in the house there was an immediate explosion of tempers and words and yelling. It was very strange; unusually intense. The other time, the other day, as soon as I expressed frustration and stress, the electric burner on the stove right beside me suddenly burst into a huge flame.)
