

15-Jan-2021_leaping bravely into the unknown

More from the "Seeds of David": Spirit of faith and courage

When you don't have to have "all your bags packed" to go, that is faith and courage. That is to say when you are asked to do something, but you don't feel properly prepared for it, and you don't know all that will befall you when you do, yet you still launch out, that is faith and courage.

Like the trip you have coming in a few days. It's a leap into the unknown. But courage doesn't have to have a learning degree before it ventures to put its toe in the water of God's will to test the temperature. Faith grabs and pushes along the courage in a soul and makes it leap into the water. Down it might splash for a moment or two, but then on top of the water they walk and see the miracles only God can do.

We the spirits* that boost both your faith and your courage are at your beck and call through the keys of bravery. If you claim bravery from Heaven, then your faith will be strengthened as you do the task, and we'll grab your courage and make it march right into where you are meant to go, without wavering and withering. Claim the faith you need to do the will of your Lord and King, and make a splash! Really go for it. We'll help you along through the keys of bravery.

(*Is that a pun? How awesome; "spirits" new wine to boost your faith!)