More from the "Seeds of David": Beloved of the sons of God

I am "angel" your interpreter. I take the words and feelings that you can scarce express, and translate them into a form that the angelic team can process and acknowledge. I join your thoughts and mind frame and expressions with the ones who help you. This is both for ease, as well as for documentation, and for reference at another day. It's easy then for some new aide to look things over in the files and to learn about you and your way of thinking, and what sorts of things to look out for, or what types of things frequently occur.

Keep your heart clean and clear and it makes my job a whole lot less "messy". Keep your mind stayed on things above, and help can come at Godspeed down to you, without having to first clear away the rubble that shouldn't be in the pathway of your mind anyway.

I can even help suggest things the angelic team can use to prompt you, things that have mind triggers, things that are personally meaningful for you, that will get a reaction in the way intended.

Cheers. At your service.
