(Jesus speaking:) Vessels are all I need in order to pour My Words out and in. But you've got to be empty in order to be filled to the full with something new. Pour out the old store, pour it out, give it out. Now sit back empty and ready to receive the freshest, not going alone on yesterday's rations. Give and then be given unto; for with the measure you meet, it shall be meted to you again.

There is so much to learn, so much to do. Are you ready to give and give out some more? ...

But "seal not up the book" for now is the time of the end, the time the prophets spoke of. Open your lives to be an open book, for now is the time to shine.

So what if you look foolish and uneducated and can't seem all together. It's not for your glory, never was and never will be. There are tons of more qualified people that lived before who could do the job whole lot better. But you are there, simply there, so I must use you. Maybe you could have been better at this or that if you'd put your mind to it or stopped being lazy or wasting time on this or that, that you thought was good to do; or maybe if you were less selfish and proud, and on and on goes the list of debilitating faults.

But just to show that I am not held back by pluses or minuses in people, I choose to use this one here and that one there, and those people yonder. And then I just simply do as I wish to do. I wait for no one; and I am held back by none. I do wait, but that's because I choose to. I work all things for My glory.

The former Word gives entrance to the newest. But I don't have to use what has been written in order to speak. But the level of faith is greater when one has read and learned My Word thus far, then I don't have to go over the basics with them but move on to deeper things.

So if you know My Word—In Old and New Testament; if you've read the prophets since then when the outpouring fell; if you are hearing from Me now, then things are set for you to get the next part of the class. You thought I was done and it was all sealed and done, bell rung?

I'd like you to know, My curious seekers, My overcomers, that there's more in the bag. With these many folks who have gone on into the Spirit World, who have learned and relearned oh so much, you can be sure there are heaps who have things to pass on; they are bursting to let the truth be told. Just think, there are more people on Earth now than ever, that means more who are hungry every day for the light of God's Word in their lives than there have been before. God hears more cries each day than before, and He wants to be a real presence in their lives.

I haven't bottled up the pen of truth. But you can't discard the past and think the "new is better" and just push it away as some kind of glitch. It all builds on the next revelation of truth that I wish to pour out.
