

2-OCT-2020_seeing scripture in colour

PSA.127:3 Lo, children are an heritage of the LORD: and the fruit of the womb is his reward.

PSA.127:4 As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man; so are children of the youth.

PSA.127:5 Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them: they shall not be ashamed, but they shall speak with the enemies in the gate.

(Jesus speaking:) I am that mighty man. I am the one whose quiver is full. When you look for it, or I should say, when your eyes are open to noticing what My written scriptures are actually saying, it really amazes you. You are amazed because you never saw it like that or in that way before.

But then you start to see hints of that message or that truth, just about everywhere you look. It's like seeing things in colour all of a sudden. Or getting a new colour added. Say for example a printer ran out of ink of a certain colour, it would affect all the other colours that are seen. But you refill it, and oh, things look very different. What you thought was yellow, actually was green, and what you thought was red, looks more like purple now. So what colour was missing?

So what colour is missing from your eyes being able to see it? There is something in the Word of God today that you didn't notice, and haven't noticed your whole life. Even if I tell you the name of a colour and say it's missing, still you'll see yellow and red just as you think they are. I have to actually place that colour into your head, and let it mix together with the other passages. And then it changes things. You see things so differently.

So it is when you at last are given the knowledge to see and understand hidden secrets. Or perhaps think of it as layers of coloured plastic laid down over the black and white line art on a page, that is held up to the light. Each coloured layer, with the right colour on each part of the clear plastic, will affect what you see. If you lay down the plastic that has the yellow on it, in a shape to cover the hill in the picture. That's all you'll see—a yellow hill, and a white or clear sky. Then if the layer of blue that is covered with blue all over it, is placed on the picture, all of a sudden you see a green hill and a blue sky.

And so it is with scripture. If it talks about a hill or sky, or any number of word pictures and ideas, you start to get the idea. But there might be much more too it. You need Me to give you the information and give you the capability to see things in a new, more advanced way—at least advance for you.

When people just keep looking over the black and white outline that is clearly seen in My Word that is written down, they miss so much colour and vibrancy, and the feelings and tone that the colours give.

So, seek My Word, My living Word in prophecy, with the scriptures too. It's one long conversation, one long, very long story line, and it all fits together. Seek out the book of the Lord, for I will fulfill what I have said. ISA.34:16 Seek ye out of the book of the LORD, and read: no one of these shall fail, none shall want her mate: for my mouth it hath commanded, and his spirit it hath gathered them.

I may be like the wise man that "keeps it in till afterwards" and doesn't "utter all that is in His mind". (PRO.29:11 A fool uttereth all his mind: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterwards.)

I might save up some things that I wish to say until the later parts of the story, but you'll never get to that part if you don't listen, or have ignored all that I've said previously. (JOH.2:10 ... when men have well drunk ... thou hast kept the good wine until now.)

It's like someone just wanting to hear the punch line of a very cleverly spoken joke. If they just come in at the end, and only want to hear what's at the end, and didn't let the joke teller have the joy of being able to speak with them and paint the scenario, well, when he tells the last line of it, they aren't going to get it. They might chuckle, mostly because those around them are really laughing, and they'd feel so out of the loop if they weren't laughing, at least a bit. But if you look in his eyes, you'll see he's actually really puzzled. He didn't find anything funny about it at all. It was rather odd, actually to him.

So you may find that those who don't "get" what I'm giving through you now in prophecy, and don't clearly understand are those who haven't been following the script so far, listening to the full conversation, and haven't kept up to date. Maybe someone can give them a quick and brief update, so they can at least have an idea of what's going on. But those who have stopped to listen, and listened long and well, for years, to what I've been saying, these will get the greatest joy when they hear the latest things that I'm saying. It will make so much more sense then.

The Bible is like the brief summery to give the update to those who came in to the conversation after it all happened. For those living through it, it took a good many years, as these were their stories, the very real experiences that taught them about God. You can read about it, and try to grasp what they learned. But your God is still moving and working and teaching His children today, in their lives, and they are supposed to be still writing things down to admonish each other, and have it for a record for the future days.

So just because something doesn't make sense now, doesn't mean that it never has or that it never will. Sometimes you just need more time, both for time to pass, and more time in studying the scriptures to see how what I've given to your generation all fits together.

So give it time, and let Me expound on the scriptures, in My time and in My way.