

21-NOV-2020_I must be Who I am

(Jesus speaking:) I can't be who I am not. If I were to try, I would be as a liar. Nay, I must be who I am, even if it turns you or others away at times. But if you choose to love Me for who I am, how much all the more will I love you back in return.

I am who I am and I cannot change. Will you step up to the plate and accept Me for what I am like? I am strong as an immovable mountain, in nature, yet tender to the point of melting your heart. I am always, yet I have times when I bestow this or that on you. You never have all you want, whenever you want it, always and all the time. I bestow, and I withdraw; I pause and I cause to go.
