More from the "Seeds of David": Elaina

Darling, sweet heart of the heart of Jesus, your Lord, King, Lover and Redeemer, peace be unto you.

I've waited awhile to speak, but now it's perfect.

Open your heart to love freely without strings attached. To show love through your eyes and through your smile, even if the recipient has done nothing for you, nor will yet. You are not cheering them because there is something that you are thanking them for doing for you, but just to pass on the radiance of the King's love that is and will takeover all.

You don't have to succumb to the darkness that snuffs all joy and radiance out of as many lives as possible. We are winning; we have won by faith, and we are going on to conquer. Smile the smile of victory. Gloat if you must. Every day is a victory day for the Lord, and you are on His team, so rejoice like you know God is the winner, and withhold not back the light that heaven can shine through your eyes.
