(Jesus speaking:) You are broken in so many ways, but the worst is that you don't know how or when you will get fixed up all the way. It's one thing to be broken, but have the hope of getting fixed and fully recovered. But when you just keep breaking down, first this thing, then the next with little to any sign of a "break" in the breakdowns, now that is really tough. For hope deferred does make the heart sick.

But what you must do, is look forward to the time of no tears.

You have an invisible foe breaking you down, but in some ways it is actually helping to build up your heart and mind muscles in having to deal with it. However, many others have a foe in the realm of the fleshly world, who are breaking them down and beating them up. Yours is in the realm of the unseen, but you are fought just the same.

So think it not strange when you are hurting and feeling weak in body, so are many of your brethren in the world who are being mistreated by physical enemies who do their dark lord's work. You are fought too and are bearing the evil consequences of the work of the devil on earth. But before too long joy will come, permanently.

Remember the sufferings of those who suffer for the Cause of Christ, in the flesh, while you are suffering now too. Pray for them while you are feeling the affliction of body as well. Join with them in heart and mind and soul through upholding them in prayer. Let this be a time when you seek Me to rush to the aid of your fellow believers; for your own suffering and weakness serves as a constant reminder of the needs and of the suffering of My chosen ones who are suffering, waiting for deliverance. And it will come. But pray, for I can and will hear the words you say and send a special touch of care and compassion to them.

Be not like those who are comfortable and see not or feel not the needs of the rest of My Body, for the needs are many; and most of these needs can only be met if and when you pray. For where are these people who suffer? Hidden away in the dark and deep places, where no flesh might come near to see and to stroke and to tend to their wounds. But light will shine and joy will be known, but you must pray, as only I can reach most of them at a time such as now.
