

25-Sept-2020_go in and get the prize

Remember when you walked and climbed up that mountain in Tasmania? Oh that was hard. But remember the thrill you got when suddenly I empowered you? You literally were held up by My angels and up you went, and fell not. That was an impossible feat, up all those boulders that seemed way too big, and when you couldn't even move an inch on your own. All your own strength was gone, and you asked for angels to take you there.

Use that as a remembrance of what I can do. Yes, you need to move, but I take the weight and protect you.

Just a little longer now darling. Everyone else is having a very rough go of things, but "they that seek the Lord shall not want/lack any good thing".

Now stand up like the soldier you are.

Take a look around at the team you are fighting together with. They are strong and don't flinch at the boo's and scares. They go in, like David's mighty men, and get that cup of water from the well of Bethlehem, and bring it to Me as prize.

If some of my children were willing to go for years and years working on hard mission fields before getting even one convert and soul won, can you not be willing to go and claim this little one, and care gently for him, so he can be brought to salvation?

Do you want to show up here without him? Do you want to face Me without him? I have a prize linked to each victory, that only comes with the winning of it.

Be like the battle horse that doesn't shy away when the battle comes.

Be brave. And just let Me use you and do what I need you to do.

Angels can do everything, but together you can make it to the goal line, baby in tow.
