

26-Jan-2021_clearing the valves and channels

More from the “Seeds of David”: Pathios

Godly hurt is good for you, darling. For it's then that you can be truly made whole. Just like a doctor that sometimes has to hurt or wound before he can fix a problem, so does the strokes of God on the heart of a believer. An opening has to be made before what's ailing and tucked away inside a person's soul can be made whole.

Your God knows whatever you need and will see to it that the correct diagnosis is made before administering the healing strokes to a soul surrendered in His hands.

Feelings can block the flow of the words of the Lord into a person's soul, but so can a lack of them. I come in and clear away that which is blocking up the valves—whether it's contentment with the way things are and not wishing to make new changes, or whether it's a longing and hunger for things that won't actually satisfy. I help clear the channel, open the valves, expose what I must, and then your soul hungers for the truth in sincerity. And you get it too.