

26-Jan-2021_learn 12 songs to sing

More from the "Seeds of David": Cantar

Learn 12 songs that tell the good news, and learn to sing them well. It's better to know a few by heart and be able to use them in your battles and in your time with others, then to try to learn bits and pieces of many, but be unable to sing or play or remember the full song.

They need not be long, but choose some and practice them each day. It will come in handy when you are called on to do something musical.

I love singing with you and will help you to enjoy this project.

Just think, if every one on earth learned or composed just 12 songs that would declare truth, and sang them each day, that is a lot of music ringing out the truth. Music is a very powerful means of declaring the good news, and even of stirring your own heart to walk in God's ways more fully.

And that's a good way to choose what songs you are to sing and learn—what songs help you do personally what God wants you to do, or learn what He has for you? Songs that tell of truths that you are meant to live out and act on. For music and truth combined make a powerful activator, and get a soul moving. So you want to make sure it's moving you in the way you are meant to. Sing what God is pleased that you do.

Of course scripture songs are good to know in abundance. But that can be something you know by heart, and remember when simply looking at a scripture. You might not be able to play on some musical instrument all the scriptures you can sing, as they might be harder to play than the simple ones you pick to be "your songs".

And you can always add more, once you get those down pat.

Sing the clouds away.

That's something you can do when you have time on your hands, while you are doing one thing that doesn't require your full focus, you can be memorising the words and lines of your chosen songs.
