

26-Nov-2021_change of appearance

(This message is selected from a message on changing something permanently on my face—as someone offered it as a gift to me, to pay for it. But then came a message of some wild insight in to the rewards for those who yield all to Jesus and be what He made them to be here and now.)

(Jesus speaking:) Part of the cost (of being an endtime prophet) is giving your all to Me, which includes the make up of the body. Come out from among them and don't stoop to the cosmetics of the world and being a bit more conformed to their image. Be what I made You to be...In times past My children just had the face that I gave them and didn't worry about their looks. Do the same. Be who you are. ...

(Jesus speaking:) You'll get a brand new makeover one of these days, and with it the ability to transform into some amazing shapes and looks, even to appear as a tiger or other heavenly creature if you so desire. Your new body has no limits, just the limit of being within My will. If it's good for you and others, then you can change into any shape needed in order to accomplish My will.

Whatever feature you'd like have, to fill a certain need and do what I've asked you to, you can have. Since you are being so yielded to Me, I'll give you lots of fun options. And with each appearance option you'll learn new things, see things from new ways, and get to socialize with different people all over the planetary system; all kinds of creatures that exist.

If I could come and have the shape of Jewish people on Planet Earth, you'll be able to take on many forms—and not all of them with the same leg and arm count as humans do.

Want to be a butterfly? Go ahead, and talk with some other fellow butterflies and learn this and that. You'll get to see things from a close up way and get to appreciate new aspects of the created world and its designs that you never got to see with just your two human eyes.

I had to make the eyes to see this and not that, because what a human sees affects their actions and what they are accountable to take action on. Bugs and beasts aren't this way. Since they are programmed to just do this and not that and to live out their life cycle in a certain way, they get to see all sorts of things up close or from different angles or in different colours or whatnot because it's not going to throw them off course from doing what they were designed to do. And I won't hold them accountable for not doing something about a situation or condition that they see.

But with humans, what they see they judge; and what they determine is to them bad or wrong, I do require them to do something to change things for the better. At least some of the time. And what they see is then permanently in their thoughts, and it is used as a visual catalog to draw from and use in their wisely judging of future situations.

They have seen the cause and effect of this and that, right before their eyes. So that makes them fully accountable to respond in good ways when they see the signs of something about to happen, just like they saw before. If they see something falling, they are to help catch it; as if they don't, then they'll have a mess and consequence for ignoring it. But if an animal sees all sorts of things, they are not equipped or commanded to respond in life-saving ways, or planet protecting ways—like putting out a fire, or grabbing a child who is too close to the edge of some deep water.

This is called wisdom and understanding. People learn from seeing and from doing, and they are to do something about what they see. I require it much of the time. But then you get the trouble of judging and criticizing others and constantly picking on what is perceived by one human to be wrong that another is doing.

Sometimes they are to say and do something about it; but much of the time they forget that the reason they are seeing something that appears wrong or is going to cause discomfort is so that they can learn what they themselves should do or not do.

The wise “keep it in until afterward”. Until after what? Until they have learned the lesson themselves, and pondered it and learned it—not just rambling on and on about what others should be learning and doing.

ZEC.6:1 And I turned, and lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains; and the mountains were mountains of brass.

ZEC.6:2 In the first chariot were red horses; and in the second chariot black horses;

ZEC.6:3 And in the third chariot white horses; and in the fourth chariot grisled and bay horses.

ZEC.6:4 Then I answered and said unto the angel that talked with me, What are these, my lord?

ZEC.6:5 And the angel answered and said unto me, These are the four spirits of the heavens, which go forth from standing before the LORD of all the earth.

REV.5:6 And I beheld, and, lo, in the midst of the throne and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth.

REV.5:7 And he came and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.

REV.5:8 And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them harps, and golden vials full of odours, which are the prayers of saints.

DAN.4:33 The same hour was the thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar: and he was driven from men, and did eat grass as oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his hairs were grown like eagles' feathers, and his nails like birds' claws.

DAN.4:34 And at the end of the days I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me, and I blessed the most High, and I praised and honoured him that liveth for ever, whose dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation:
