

28-Jan-2022_Part 3_more on the unusual storm

[Note: Here are a few more little messages that came in these two weeks since the storm. They were personal messages to me or loved ones; but they seemed to keep hinting about a new stage or chapter.]

23-Jan-2022

(Jesus speaking:) Today marks the first of a new step of operation—the landing gear. You've shot off like a cannon ball and explosions have occurred. Now you can step back and see what losses have occurred and how you can fix it up now. But don't think it will all go so fine and smoothly. Remember you are in battle and the enemy will use whatever he can to fight your feeble attempts at whacking away with the Gospel.

What are the goals that you are supposed to reach? What will help you get there? And what, mostly, is trying to stop you? Assess these and be patient, for though you know where you are going and what you are to do, it won't come to you easy. Mostly it's to teach you patience. The work, whatever is truly meant to be done, will be done, but what you are to aim for is to teach you, and to stretch you and teach you patience.

(Lucerne speaking:) I have come indeed to help you in this time when darkness truly is covering the world more than ever. Take my hand as I hold God's ball of light and on we'll go. No, things won't always be clear and you won't always be able to see what colour things are in the shadows around you, but the light will show you clearly the path you are to take. You won't be able to always know who is right and what is right about everything in the world around you, and you won't accurately judge right and wrong according to your view, but all you really need to know is the path that you are to be on. So hold my hand and I will shine God's light on the path and He will speak in your heart saying this is the way, walk you in it.

24-Jan-2022

(Spirit helper speaking:) Today is a mile stone day. Treat it as such. Where does the vista show you is next on the horizon? Believe that new things will come into being very soon, for the gear is in motion and great new moves of the spirit and the living realm on earth will come into play.

Your part? Pass on the word in all the ways you can, to whoever will listen. Read aloud; cry aloud, and let your voice be heard. When He speaks, speak the truth and spare not for their crying or sighing or whining or decrying or dying or vying or what not.

25-Jan-2022

(Jesus speaking to a teen:) You are branching off into the unknown. Life will be intense and sometimes scary—that is to say you won't know if all things will work out in your favour. But if you choose Me as your primary teacher, you will learn a heap more than you will learn if you just read books or listened to lectures. I want to teach you what you need most in this life. Let Me be your constant friend and most loyal companion. You are My son. Thank You for choosing Me.

See files:

15-Jan-2022_unusual storm

28-Jan-2022_Part 1_more on the unusual storm

28-Jan-2022_Part 2_more on the unusual storm