

28-Mar-2022_pick up and put down

(Jesus speaking:) I will lead you through this gateway to hell. You are not alone. But fight on you must. All things must go and be left behind that lead not to the way of life. That is what this time of choice is for—to see what you will pick up and what you will put down; what you will hold on to, and what you will discard; what attracts you or what will subtract from your life if that element or substance is a part of your daily life. Choose that which leads to life. Anything that in anyway would eventually lead someone down into despair or loss of life, that must be given the boot. Anything that leads you closer to Me the more you partake of it, that must be held on at all costs.

Every day there are choices, and every day, like a game of cards, you pick up and you play your hand, and you discard. Only for the game you are in, you are not limited by the amount of “discards” you are allowed.

Anything and everything must go and be given up before the final round, that does not give you a winning hand. In My game you can have as many cards as you like, provided that when the game ends you don't have any “losing cards” left in your hand. And since the game may end rather abruptly, at any point for anyone on this planet, it's best not to linger with any “losing” cards in hand.

Let go of anything that holds you back from fully giving your heart and mind to Me, to Jesus. And then reach out to get as many cards as you can—that is gifts from Me to you. You want to have lots of those in hand when the last round comes. So give up what is hurting you and partake of more and more what will nourish your spirit; for that is what is most under attack. And its health is and should be of primary importance. (End of message)
