

6-Feb-2021_we will cherish the gains

More from the "Seeds of David": Guardian Angel

We are going to have a lot of fun one of these days "when the war is over and the world is free" and we look back over the victories won. For now it's a fight, but then we can enjoy and really cherish the gains. You'll know so many more things than you do now, and that will make it easier for me to speak with you. Since there is lots still hidden behind this and that veil, and lots of secrets not yet for your ears and eyes, it can make communicating a bit less "flowing", as there's so many things that I see that you shouldn't know just yet.

But when we are again in the Kingdom of our Saviour and Lord, and have a clearer view and knowledge, and have many victories under our belt, we'll have some fun relaxing times. It's good to take a moment to glance, every now and then, away from the current battle field, and all the tears and toil, and to look to the horizon, the glorious place we'll be in soon.

Take courage, for though the time seems long, at present, and grievous, "nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruits of righteousness."

Lots of lessons, lots of toil, and mostly a whole lot of misunderstanding. But the way will clear, and you won't see darkly any more. I'll take you then in my arms, and kiss you, embrace you, and we'll walk into victory land. It's going to be worth every bit of our sacrifice and struggles now. I can assure you.
