(Spirit helper speaking:) Honoured to speak to you today. It's been awhile. Thank you for listening. It seems but yesterday when you were young and inexperienced in the whole warfare of Heaven. But you are training and fighting and making progress.

I'll uphold you when you feel you've messed things up and given place to the enemy. When you feel separate from your Lord due to faults and failings. He is nigh to those whose hearts are broken, but sometimes they keep themselves away for a time.

Let's talk about things that keep you from feeling close and clean to the Lord.

--The list could go on if you really took the time to think; the list of all the "bad" and "wrong" and "missed the mark". But the main purpose of failures is to what? To train you on what or what not to do; not so you'll never make the same mistake, but that you are aware of what is up and down, good and bad, develop a conscience, and also, primarily to keep and ensure that you are humble. So when mistakes do this, get you humble and teach you new realisations, this in fact aids you in hearing more clearly from the Lord. The proud who never made a wrong move are a bit too closed to Heaven. Simply because they feel they don't need anyone but themselves.
