

6-Jan-2021_recruited for a new team

(Jesus speaking:) The light from the burning dreams and hopes will light your way to a better path. Just open the door that you come to, with praise, and walk through to find a whole new way of seeing things. Your friends are helping you do that—to see this world as on its last heart beats. This helps keep your perspective on an even keel. To see that instead of the rest of your life being one of broken hopes and nothing working out as planned, instead you are recruited for a whole other team.

I'm taking you to another level, and nothing you do will make sense or be towards your old plans. The things I'm asking of you won't build your old visions. But they are working towards the future.
