(Spirit helper speaking: ) Pray. For often it is the fervent prayers of a single voice that turns the tide and wins the battle.

Pray more than you think. Desperate prayer from a heart filled with expectancy is worth all the money in the bank when it comes to results.

Pray, or you'll lose whatever battle you are engaged in.

What does it mean to "pray"? --To connect, to be online with the King of the universe, to not be just doing your own thing, and to ask for the Heavenly help that is needed. If all you can do is whisper "I call on the keys" you will be doing your bit to fight and win.

So first of all, how do you connect? By listening to your Lover, as He shows you the moves you must make. Next you listen and record, when possible, the details and the instructions. And praise, always have the voice of praise in your heart and coming out of your mouth, this ensures that your connection will be strong and you'll get the instant help needed. Which brings us to the next part of prayer, and that is to ask. Ask for a team to help you. You'll always need an army, and that doesn't come without a serious and earnest request.

Just think, for a King to agree to help fight and win a battle in the land where a citizen of His domain resides, He's going to need, at the least, a proper request. Since you can't pay for the expenses of the war, you must at least pray for the expedient victory, and request what it will take.

You thought it was just a little shuffle, and all you needed was a little this or that? You think your requests are small, as you often see no impending danger, and so you mumble something about the size of the request. But don't you see that anything that helps God's Kingdom is going to be seriously fought and requires the efforts of the King's escorts, warriors and weapons? What might look to you like a small thing, might indeed be part of a very big problem. And you being alerted to this seemingly small thing might be to enlist your prayers so the bigger battle can be won.

Every prayer helps, for each one might see things from a new angle and request help for a new side to the situation that another might not be aware of or think about.

If you can think, you can be claiming the keys. To "pray without ceasing" and "turn every thought into a prayer", just think of the keys needed, with every thought. Ask for them. This shows you are letting the keys and the King of the keys rule in your heart and mind, and be in charge of every aspect of your life.
