

Points in Prophecy for Children's Care

10/2008

(Jesus speaking:)

Stop and pray and hear My voice before turning the children over to others or when a new shift or activity starts. Then you'll be going more in My spirit and I have a chance to get through to you on things. More interactive teamworking.

Do skits on safety tips and what to do in dangerous or scary situations. Even if they don't encounter them, they will be trained to teach others.

Teach the children to pray before and while doing things. Make not only the "pray without ceasing" a reality, but also the "ask Me everything" vision, so you keep my full protection, and find My tailor made plan. I know all that is going on and will happen and all the strange, odd things that could happen. I can keep you then in the center of My will no matter what happens.

The ante is up for the children and in your care of them. What was fine even a month ago, what you could get by with doing to keep the enemy at bay no longer is fine enough. You have to fight more, incite more of Heavens power and go more on the offensive. You can't just pray a "we claim the keys to keep us safe" short and forgotten prayer, but you must really go the distance. You need to use all the weapons as you go about your day—and not just at Word time either.

Things happen and you can't shield from all harm, or you and they would miss out on some of the reasons for being on earth at all—to learn, and often "through things suffered". But you can stay real close—through following the counsel I have laid out, and being obedient to checks, and keeping up the shield in the spiritual realm, staying real close in heart, mind and spirit.

Keep at it and always look for new ways to do better, teach nicer, appear more together, have presentable work & neat organized set up.

When making the plan, check in with Me about each month's needs and focus. You can't just follow what you think should be covered, but what will work, what I know is best

When your heart is right with Me, and you take care to tend to the weeds and are free of bitterness or anger or lack of the Joy of the Lord, then you can emit more of My spirit in all your actions. Taking time with Me to rest, to get your infilling, time to meditate is a must for maintaining the right atmosphere around these young ones. You can't just read what it says in the book and try to implement it. You have to have the spirit of God permeating you inside and out to express the words of God with as much clarity of spirit as possible.

Be open to the little checks, the things in your life that you need to keep in check, so your whole spirit can show the fruits of the spirit; yielding your heart to Me, and taking on a praiseful, trustful attitude on all that is dished out your way, in life. And remember each thing that you either can or can't do anything about, is allowed into your life to teach you resolve and greater trust in Me.

It took drastic ways in times of old for My people to listen and begin to fear Me. They had grown so stuck in their own rut and old ways of doing things. So the strong way of operating helped to get them on my track. But nowadays you can bring them to this understanding through showing your obedience and willingness to follow where I say, and your devotion to My Words. As well as teaching and telling examples of the ways I work in people's lives today—miracles, accidents, answers to prayer, blessings of obedience, and so forth. Look for ways to bring Me into the picture, and bring them up in My nurture and admonition.

Fighting for their spiritual life is the biggest part of training and raising children to be My disciples. Once their hearts and minds are given into My hands, then I can use them as I wish, and can take them to far places.
